

Website Privacy Notice

Pell Frischmann is committed to its users' right to privacy and the security of personal information. We take every step to ensure that any information provided to us is kept secure and confidential, and used only for the purpose for which it was provided.

This notice explains our data processing practices. If you have any requests concerning your personal information or any other queries, then please contact us at pflondon@pellfrischmann.com.

Pell Frischmann only collects identifying data from visitors to its website through the electronic contact button created for each office. Each office's contact button creates a Contact Us template which may be completed. Any data supplied in this way will be used for our internal purposes only and to send you the information that you have requested, and for any other purpose for which you have given your consent.

Identifying data will be treated, always, in a confidential manner and will not be disclosed to any organisation beyond the Pell Frischmann group of companies for marketing or any other purpose without your consent, unless where required by law.

Any personal communication between you and Pell Frischmann will be treated in accordance with the data protection legislation currently enacted.

The personal information you provide remains within your control. If at any time, you have any questions on the information that we hold on you or you wish us to stop contacting you, then simply contact us at pflondon@pellfrischmann.com.

Aggregate and anonymous data concerning our website visits such as browsing patterns, may be collected and shared with third parties to build up marketing profiles, aid strategic development and audit use of the website.

Our website uses small text files, called cookies. Cookies are pieces of information generated by a web server and stored within the user's computer, for future use. Our website uses cookies to allow us to see how it is used. The cookies cannot tell us who you are. If you are not comfortable with the use of cookies, most browsers now allow users to opt-out of using them.
